1. Introduction

Normally your paper will start with an introduction, which goes here. The content is entirely up to you. References are numbered in order of appearance in the text like [1]. Equations shall preferably be made with the built-in Equation editor of Word (it may have been upgraded to MathType). Here follows an example equation.

$$L_{eq} = \frac{1}{T}\sum_{i=1}^{N} 10^{L_{Xi}/10} \qquad (1)$$

Figures and tables are placed at the positions where you want.

Examples are given below.

Item 1	Item 2	Item 3
Description 1	123	456
Description 2	234	567

Table 1: This is a table caption

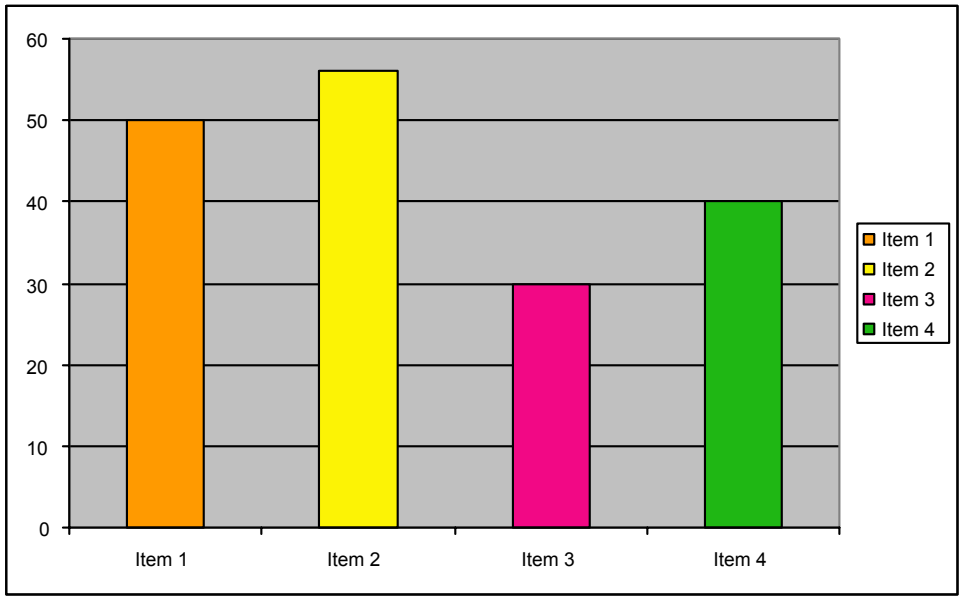

Figure 1: This is a figure caption. Please use colors if they are useful. They will appear on the CD-ROM, but not in the printed proceedings, so keep the figures also clear for grayscale printing.

Do not insert any headers, footers and page numbers. They will be added during the preparation of the CD-ROM and the printing.

Second paragraphs are indented on the first line.

2. The next chapter

The paper continues with the next chapters.

Notice that the total number of pages depends on the type of paper:

- Tutorials: 8 or 10 pages
- Invited: 4 or 6 pages
- Contributed: 4 pages

For printing reasons the number of pages should always be even.

2.1 This is a subheading

This example shows how to make your subheadings when applicable.

2.1.1 Sub-sub heading

If needed, use this style for sub-sub headings

Conclusions

Normally your paper will end with conclusions.

Acknowledgements

If desired, acknowledgements can be included, but they should be kept short.
